MERCHANTS ORGANIZE

Pennsylvania Avenue Group Formed by Local Merchants

The Pennsylvania Avenue Association came into being last night as merchants concerned with proposed parking restrictions organized at a meeting in the Penn-Laurel Motel.

The merchants, numbering about 50, met to elect officers and outline plans for letting Borough Council know how they feel about the proposed parking restrictions.

At the last council meeting, an ordinance was presented which would restrict parking from Pennsylvania Avenue bridge on the south side to borough limits with the possibility to provide for no parking on both sides of the avenue from borough limits west to the east side.

Officers elected at last night's organizational meeting were: E. P. Siefert, Siefert's Jewelry, 416 Pennsylvania Ave., president; John J. Zdarko, Zdarko's Red and White, 809 Pennsylvania Ave., vice president; and Lloyd Miller, Miller's Five Cents to a Dollar store, 311 Pennsylvania Ave., secretary-treasurer. Attorney S. W. Blackman said the proposal, outlined at the last council session, was unfair and unnecessary. He urged those in attendance to do everything possible to make sure the proposed ordinance... to restrict parking on Pennsylvania Ave... is not adopted.

He suggested that merchants obtain the names of councilmen who will support the association and let the group's wishes be known.

Attorney Blackman read a rough draft of a petition which will be presented to council. In essence, the petition proposed that council reconsider its possible parking restrictions since such moves would be detrimental to those who constitute a large section of the borough's tax base.

It's conceivable, he said, that some business people within the proposed parking restriction area will be forced to move their places of business.

He suggested that association members back up the petition with facts and figures. Such information, he said, should be presented to Council's Public Safety Committee.

Eisenhower Reported Responding to Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported Monday to be responding favorably to treatment for a major and initially painful heart attack suffered Saturday night.

It was the latest of five cardiac assaults, both major and minor, he has experienced since 1955.

But doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital indicated that while Eisenhower is alert and in good spirits with no signs of heart failure, the 77-year-old, five-star general is not yet out of the woods.

The latest attack struck him in the hospital while he apparently was well on the road to complete recovery from a mild attack suffered April 29 in California.

"The early period following any heart attack is the most critical," the doctors said in response to a series of written questions submitted by The Associated Press. "The General's response so far has been favorable."

New Strikes Pose Threat To Back-to-Work Move in France

PARIS (AP) — Renault's 65,000 workers, shipyard workers in three cities and thousands of metalcraft employees voted Monday to return to work, but new strikes and another tear gas and billy club battle between police and students in Paris still undercut France's growing stability.

The Renault "yes" vote to a 12 percent salary increase signaled the nationwide strike wave was nearly broken, but not over. Back-to-work movements spread to the shipyards at St. Nazaire, Bordeaux, and La Seyne as well as truck manufacturers and metal plants scattered throughout the country.

Negotiations at other auto plants marked time, although the government-owned Renault works are considered pacesetters. Dockworkers went off the job at Mediterranean ports, news vendors struck in Paris for two days, and a stoppage at the government owned radio and television station continued into its fifth week.

The Renault vote, opposed by extremist groups, had the backing of the less-than-revolutionary General Confederation of Labor, the Communist-led organization that is France's largest trade union. It urged the workers to march through the streets Tuesday, before starting back on the job, and shout: "It's only a start. Let's keep on fighting!"

The new police-student clash in the Latin Quarter came just as the French National Students Union—UNEF—said it would halt street fighting because it recognized "that the students alone cannot continue the battle without support." It said it would not respond to "provocations."

But a crowd of several hundred gathered and skirmished with police who used their clubs and tear gas to disperse the stridents. There was no indication that the student union took part. Police reported finding a stock of explosives in a third-floor annex library assigned to the "Paris Provinces Liaison Committees."

There were about 100 Molotov cocktails, they said. Other bombs were made of butane gas containers, filled with ether. The cache included stocks of gasoline, kerosene, sulphuric acid and other acids.

Teachers at the Sorbonne met at the Institute of Art and Archaeology this afternoon and protested the entry of the police "without consultation or even warning to the university authorities."

They said they would refuse to return to the Sorbonne as long as the police occupy it. Student groups made similar statements this morning.

Traffic was halted briefly on the Boulevard St. Germain near the Odeon Theatre, a stronghold of the youthful rebels until last Friday. Cafe owners quickly pulled in sidewalk tables and rolled down their iron shutters.

Assembly OKs School Aid Bill; Termed 'Historic Occasion'

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House completed legislative action Monday on a precedent-setting bill that would authorize the state to give financial assistance to private and parochial schools.

By a vote of 107-74, the House accepted amendments that had been inserted into the measure before it passed the Senate last Wednesday.

The amendments scaled down the initial outlay from $27 million to $4.3 million, which Gov. Shafer maintained was all that was available at this time.

The bill's chief sponsor, Rep. Matthew F. Coppolino, D-Philadelphia, hailed final passage as an "historic occasion" in Pennsylvania and a precedent for all states.

"No state I know of has this kind of sweeping legislation to provide actual financial assistance to nonpublic schools," Coppolino said in an off-the-floor interview. "I expect the law to be challenged in the courts and to be upheld as constitutional."

The question of the measure's constitutionality accounted for the bulk of the negative votes cast as the House concurred in the Senate amendments. However, several proponents of non-public school aid opposed concurrence because of the sizable cut in the amount.

Rep. Martin P. Mullen, D-Philadelphia, said the bill failed to meet the needs of the state's 600,000 nonpublic school children. He also charged that the Pennsylvania Catholic Conference, which strongly backed the bill, "made a deal with the governor to sell their people down the river."

Supreme Court Rules Discrimination In Housing Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that discrimination in all housing sales and rentals is illegal and suggested that Congress has the power to strike at any other "relic of slavery."

The far-reaching, 7-2 decision, announced as the court began its long summer recess, held that an 1866 post-Civil War law establishes an absolute ban on racial discrimination in the sale or rental of property, private or public.

Beyond that, Justice Potter Stewart's written opinion could be interpreted as a green light for Congress to act against any form of economic discrimination that is based on race. The source of such authority, the majority suggested, is the power given by Congress in the 13th Amendment banning slavery.

"At the very least," Stewart wrote, "the freedom that Congress is empowered to secure under the 13th Amendment includes the freedom to buy whatever a white man can buy, the right to live wherever a white man can live."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., chief sponsor of the open-housing provisions in the 1968 civil rights act, said the decision "closes the last legal avenue for racial discrimination in housing."

He said in a statement the court's ruling is "particularly significant because it reaches the sale of residences by individual homeowners whether they use the services of real estate brokers or not."

The civil rights act exempted individual homeowners from the ban on discrimination if they handle the sale or rental of their property themselves.

The decision took the spotlight on a get-away day in which several important holdings were dealt out. Among them:

—Sanction for police to keep failing chronic drunks found on the city streets.

—A ban on denying welfare to children solely because of their mother's sexual misconduct.

—Freedom for community antenna television operators to pick up copyrighted movies and cartoons from TV stations without having to pay for them.

And, looking ahead to the term that begins in October, the court called for a new hearing on state laws that make needy people fulfill residency requirements before they get some forms of help. And it granted a hearing to John William Butenko, 42, of Orange, N.J., an American engineer and Igor Ivanov, 37, a Russian chauffeur convicted of conspiring to spy for the Soviet Union.

The court agreed also to rule on the constitutionality of a New York law that prohibits burning of the American flag.

Mystery Aircraft Appear Along DMZ in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Mystery aircraft "suspected to be enemy helicopters" have appeared along the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam, the U.S. Command said Monday. South Vietnamese military sources said they were helicopters and 12 were shot down this weekend.

The U.S. Command appeared to be under high-level orders for secrecy. The appearance of enemy helicopters could be further evidence of Hanoi's escalation of the war.

Since the Paris peace talks opened last month, the enemy has redoubled ground attacks along the demilitarized zone and has harassed Saigon with ground assaults and rocket attacks. U.S. officials believe this escalation is designed to gain an advantage at Paris by trying to show to the world that North Vietnam cannot be beaten.

In a brief statement, the U.S. Command said the "low flying aircraft" were fired on by naval vessels and U.S. planes. It reported radar sightings of the aircraft were reported in the vicinity of the eastern end of the DMZ and north of the Ben Hai River that runs through the middle of the zone.

"No visual confirmation has been possible because the sightings occurred at night," the statement said.

The U.S. Command would not expand on its official statement nor comment on the reports from South Vietnamese military sources.

These sources said three single rotor, turbo-powered helicopters were shot down along the coast near the demilitarized zone Saturday night by allied artillery, and U.S. Navy jets downed nine more Sunday night. Six of the nine crashed into the South China Sea, they said.

Spokesmen said better weather Sunday enabled U.S. pilots to fly 142 strike missions over the North, the highest number since April 22. Two MIG-17s were encountered, but they broke away to the north before shots were fired by either side.

U.S. Supports Free Berlin; Demonstrations Break Out

BERLIN (AP) — Demonstrations forced their way onto the grounds of the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin Monday but withdrew when Russian soldiers, some with bayonets fixed on automatic weapons, advanced to meet them.

Police said the demonstration, on the 15th anniversary of the 1953 uprising against Communism rule in East Germany, was directed against both the Russians and East Germans. East Germany has placed new restrictions on access by West Germans to West Berlin.

Police reports of the incident made no mention that Soviet guards at the memorial were armed. But photographs showed six Red army soldiers moving forward with weapons held level. At least two had bayonets fixed.

There was no report that the soldiers fired their weapons or made contact with the demonstrators. Police said no one was injured.

An eyewitness said one Russian sprayed water at the demonstrators with a garden hose.

The demonstration occurred after President Johnson messaged Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger in Bonn that the East German travel restrictions were "totally unprovoked and unjustified aggravation." Johnson declared U.S. "support of free Berlin and the goal of a German people united in peace remains as firm as ever."

In a televised speech Monday night, Kiesinger said the travel curbs indicate that the Soviet Union is not ready for East-West cooperation and might not be trustworthy in the proposed nonproliferation treaty against nuclear arms.

Big 3 Pledge to Aid Countries Threatened by Nuclear Aggression

(c) N.Y. Times News Service UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The United States, Britain, and the Soviet pledged Monday in the Security Council to provide "immediate assistance" to any nonnuclear country facing nuclear aggression.

The three-power security guarantee was offered as an added inducement to nonnuclear countries to sign the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which was endorsed by a large majority in the General Assembly last week.

Under the treaty, countries not possessing nuclear arms now would give up their right to manufacture or acquire nuclear arms for 25 years. Monday's formal pledges were offered as a "defensive shield" for these countries against attack from nuclear arm-powers outside the treaty.

In this sense, the pledges made by the U.S., the Soviet Union and Britain were clearly addressed to the problem of Communist China, the only nuclear arms country that is not a United Nations member and is openly hostile to the treaty.

Arthur J. Goldberg, Permanent United States representative, said that the "concerted action" by three major nuclear-weapon states in the security council was "a political fact of the first order."

He said that adoption of the resolution by the 15-member Security Council would "lay a firm political, moral, and legal basis for assuring the security of nonnuclear weapon parties" to the treaty.

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, first deputy foreign minister of the Soviet Union, said the security guarantee was a "logical and natural" demand of nonnuclear weapons states preparing to adhere to the treaty.

Kuznetsov said that the treaty itself would not produce the disappearance of nuclear weapons, so "there still remains in the world the possibility of unleashing a nuclear war against nonnuclear countries."

Actors Equity Calls Strike, Threatening Broadway Blackout

NEW YORK (AP) — Actors Equity called a strike against the legitimate theater Monday, threatening a Broadway blackout and the cutoff of $1 million a week in box office receipts.

Thousands of visitors already had begun their summer influx into New York, many of them carrying tickets obtained months ago to Broadway shows.

Nineteen of the 21 productions currently on Broadway were affected by the strike call, as well as eight road shows in such cities as Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit, Chicago and Baltimore.

It was the first call for a blackout of Broadway marquees since 1960, when Equity struck for nine days over pensions. Actor Ralph Bellamy headed the union during that walkout, which closed 22 productions. Only 19 of them reopened.

At issue with the League of New York Theaters in the current contract dispute were Equity's demands to increase the $130-a-week minimum to $200, a shorter contract, a full chorus throughout a show's run, and more stringent control over the hiring of actors from abroad.

In the congressional race,

David M. Walsh, of Montour Falls, is opposed by John L. Pallilo, of Brockton, and Wilbur H. White, Leon. Today's contest is believed to be the first Democratic Primary ever in the congressional district.

In the Republican Primary, Party endorsed John H. Hallenbeck, seeks the nomination for family court judge. He is opposed by Dunkirk Jurist August R. Jankowski, who has been blind since age 17. North Warren Kiwanians will meet tonight at 6:15 for dinner at the North Warren Community House.

Members are asked to come prepared for a work bee, either at the Community House or at the playground.

Members of the North Warren club, with their wives and invited guests, enjoyed a first anniversary dinner at the Community House June 11, catered by Curly Wiles.

After a brief history of the club given by Robert Dietsch and a congratulatory speech by Lt. Gov. Frank Norman from Erie, a program was presented by the Warren Area High School Dance Band under the direction of Dan Harpster.

Members attended from Warren, Youngsville and Erie Kiwanis clubs.

May Be Held Over

The Library Theatre wishes to announce that the currently featured movie "Guess Who's Coming To Dinner" will be held over if such a move can be arranged through Columbia Pictures. See Wednesday's Times-Mirror and Observer.

County Man Arraigned In Corry

CORRY — A Spring Creek man was arraigned here Saturday on a charge of resisting arrest, the charge stemming from a hassle at the end of a high speed chase into the rural areas west of the city Friday night.

Alderman Norbert Bachmeyer arraigned Frank L. Miles, 28, RD 1, Spring Creek, who was taken into custody in a farm driveway by police officers. A hearing has been set for Saturday and Miles released on bond.

The officers stated they spotted Miles in the city while on patrol and said the Spring Creek man was driving a car with an outdated temporary license plate. He had been stopped and cited for the violation last Monday and was driving the same car with the same plate Friday night, officers said.

As police attempted to stop Miles for questioning, the latter sped away west on Route 6 with the patrol car in pursuit. Leaving Route 6 and heading into the back roads, Miles turned into what he thought was a dirt road but which turned out to be a farm driveway. He was forced to stop and police made the arrest.

Officers said Miles refused to cooperate and had to be handcuffed. They said he also used abusive language.

Three Arrested For Burglary

Three out-of-town persons are in Warren County jail following their arrest Saturday by borough police.

Charged with burglary and larceny are Robert Rerko, 20, of Limer road, RD 3, Meadville; Leroy J. Hellicker, 18, and a 17-year-old youth, both from RD 3, Spartansburg.

Police stated that at 12:15 a.m. Saturday a complaint was received from Sparkle Car Wash, Market street plaza, that coin machines in the wash bays had been broken into. Missing was $10 in coins with $200 damage to the machines, according to police.

Officers Warren Davis and Robert Kates, who investigated, located a witness who had noted a suspicious car in the area earlier in the evening.

The car was located in front of an east side diner with burglary tools on the back seat. Police stated the occupants were found inside the diner and arrested.

Further investigation, police said, revealed the trio had also broken into a Youngsville car wash and separate charges were filed by state police of the Warren substation.

Food Destroyed In Fiery Crash

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Just over a ton of frozen foods was destroyed Monday in a fiery crash involving a tractor-trailer and three cars.

Police said a truck driven by Harvey McClintats, 30, of Girard, Ohio, ran into the rear of a car at the intersection of Pennsylvania 28 and 910, forcing the car into two others.

The rig and the first car caught fire, but the only injuries were minor hurts to the car driver.

Police estimated damage at $40,000.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two prisoners who were serving as nurses in the Allegheny County Workhouse hospital were at large Monday after overpowering a guard and escaping.

Police identified the escapees as Sam Scantano, 20, of Pittsburgh and Dennis Lamoreau, 19, of Clearfield. Scantano was serving time for burglary. Lamoreau was convicted of a motor vehicle violation. The prisoners threatened a guard with a homemade knife, took his keys, and locked him in the X-ray darkroom before escaping from the jail in nearby Blawnox Sunday night.

Novice Explorers Decide They've Had Enough of Caves

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Two novice cave explorers, equipped only with a weak flashlight and one candy bar, emerged unharmed from a cave early Monday blinking in the glare of rescuers' improvised searchlights.

The lost explorers were John Betts, about 35, of Norristown, and Kathy Gher, 17, who lives near Williamsport.

Betts said he was visiting at the home of Marvin Michael, near Williamsport, and after church services Sunday a group decided to go on a hike in the area.

When Betts spotted the cave, he decided to look inside. In a similar venturesome spirit, Miss Gher joined him. Their friends waited outside as the two crawled through the small opening and disappeared down the sharp slope into the darkness.

It was then shortly after 3 p. m. As the afternoon wore on, the friends waited on the surface with increasing alarm. Some of them yelled into the opening. All they got back were bouncing echoes. Finally, they called police. As word spread, a small army of at least 50 persons gathered at the scene, including volunteers, policemen, firemen, and a few expert cave explorers who are known as "spelunkers."

Phila. Editor Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Melville F. Ferguson, retired editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin. He died Saturday at the age of 93.

Ferguson, who started his career in 1895, also was editor of the old Philadelphia Record before joining the Bulletin in 1937.

His widow and three daughters survive.

As twilight faded into darkness, adequate lighting posed the most serious problem. An improvised lighting system was provided by the professional rescuers.

Seven of the more experienced spelunkers went underground with electric torches and walkie-talkies.

About 1:15 a. m. Monday the word was flashed from below on the walkie-talkie:

"We got 'em; we got 'em." The crowd outside gave an audible sigh of collective relief.

Upon reaching the surface, Kathy was taken home immediately by relatives. Betts stayed around to tell of their experiences and answer questions.

"It was a funny feeling being trapped in a cave," he said, "but we knew they would be looking for us."

As their flashlight got weaker, Betts said he flicked it off so as not to alarm his companion.

"Kathy never panicked," Betts said. "She kept very cool."

He said Kathy was carrying a candy bar but they were saving it, just in case the situation should get really desperate.

Asked about his future attitude toward exploring caves, Betts replied with conviction: "I've seen enough of caves."

"COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE"

MASTER BEDROOMS are for adults, and they should be planned and furnished just for them. When there are children in the house, the master bedroom is often a place where parents retreat while teenagers take over the rest of the house. It can be a fine place for morning or evening coffee, or for mother to "take a break" during the day.

So why not create a pleasant, tranquil retreat? The bedroom doesn't have to be huge to find room for a rest or reading corner . . . or a place to watch television on your personal portable set.

In very little space you can fit a comfortable chair (or two), a table for books and ash tray, plus good lighting. Design this space to fit your personal habits.

While there is a trend toward bright, bold use of color, and youngsters, especially boys, favor bright colors in their bedrooms, many adults find these colors too "active" for a sleeping room. If in doubt, choose a quiet, restful color scheme, with bright colors kept to accents.

You'll find a host of bedroom furnishing ideas in our display. We'll be glad to help you plan inviting bedrooms with an extra bonus in function and charm. Stop in and see us!

The United Approach

Warren County Commissioners Blain M. Mead and Thomas Donnelly are in Titusville today to participate in a meeting of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission.

To the following editorial which appeared in an area newspaper, we add a profound "amen."

A FURTHER STEP
Goal of the Commission, which has scheduled a tourism meeting at Cross Creek Motor Lodge, two miles south of Titusville, should be a united, eight-county effort to attract out-of-state visitors to this part of Pennsylvania.

Tourism is an industry and in Pennsylvania tourism is a big industry.

But the unfortunate aspect is that this part of Pennsylvania has not yet implanted itself on the national consciousness. Northwestern Pennsylvania has become a major vacation area, but this is largely on the basis of its appeal to the Pittsburgh and Cleveland metropolitan areas.

The attractions here are sufficient, however, that a further step should be taken.

For the non-Pennsylvanian, contemplating a visit to the Quaker State, the attractions that come quickest to mind are undoubtedly Gettysburg, Lancaster County and the Pennsylvania Dutch area, Philadelphia, and the Poconos.

The facilities are available to add Northwestern Pennsylvania to this list.

Erie's Peninsula, Pymatuning State Park, and now the Kinzua Dam in the heart of the Allegheny National Forest are the three assets that can—with imagination and skill—be converted into an asset the scope of which has only dimly been realized to date.

Further, the area has major historical attractions, which can be woven into the overall package, the first oil well at Titusville, Pithole City, the sites of Forts Venango and LeBoeuf, the Peninsula site where Perry built his fleet, the Niagara and the Anthony Wayne blockhouse.

Work will have to be done. Secretary of Forests and Waters Dr. Maurice Goddard, in a visit to the Warren area this past week, expressed surprise that no more than 200 camping sites are presently available in the Kinzua Dam area. Dr. Goddard said at least 2,000 were needed at present and that more would be needed in the future. He's right, of course. There is a major need for more camping space throughout this area.

But more than facilities, imagination and proper promotion is needed to make the outside world aware of what this area has.

That's what makes the Northwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission so important. Finally there is a united approach. With skill and proper leadership, this new organization can open a vast new area of wealth for the entire eight county area.

Free To Urge His Case

ATHENS
Mr. Andreas Papandreu, the Greek-American who aspired to govern Greece but ended up in the can on April 21, 1967, has leveled many charges against the revolutionary government, now that he has been released and is free to urge his case in the forums of the world, one of them that the government is composed of half-literate who have no ideas about anything, and, if they did, wouldn't know how to express them. An American seeking quick information about the Greek situation is likely to agree with Mr. Papandreu on this point after perusing the Government's principal English hand-out, a four-color 150-page life-sized booklet entitled "Why Did the Revolution of April 21, 1967 Take Place." It is unquestionably the single most illiterate and incompetent apologia in the history of polemical literature.

The introduction gets us off at sprint-speed into syntactical anarchy: "The collection of facts, the selection of photographs, the redaction of the text, the paging and the general constant attendance of the present edition, was realized . . . under the general supervision of the director Mr. P. A. Papadakis."

The message to the Greek people issued by the revolutionary government on April 21 is rendered in such language as: "We belong to the labor class and we will stand our poor Greek brothers by." The revolution was bloodless, we are proudly told, but even so, "the immobilized all the politicians, those incapable, impudent betrayers and swart-ers Greek politicians, the Communists and those who had changed the House of sessions to a bawdy-house, from where the brave Greek people the heroes of 1940 and of the Communist defeat of 1944, had to take lessons of falsehood, perjury, forgery, speculation and blackmail."

The book is chock-full of detailed charts and graphs illustrating the pre-revolutionary chaos, e.g., on page 17 "What Amount of Money the Action of K. K. E. (the Communists) Costed in Greece" (i.e., the alleged value of the property destroyed during the civil wars of 1944-1947), on over (p. 95) to "A Numerical Plan of Strikes 1953-1967" which shows that whereas there were 25 or 30 strikes during a typical month in pre-Junta Greece, there were none in the months following the Revolution: which is an achievement in the field of labor relations equal to that of the Soviet Union, a point the editor of this mortifying volume probably would not understand. It is fortunate for Mr. Papadakis that the Junta is committed to bloodlessness.

What is disappointing about the performance of the Junta isn't its ineptitude as such, but its ineptitude in the light of the case that can be made for it, a case which, in my judgment, prevails over the case that can be made against it.

Mr. Papadopoulos, the Prime Minister, is among the half-literate to which Mr. Papandreu, who took a Ph.D. in economics at Harvard, and went on to become Chairman of the Department of Economics at the University of California in Berkeley, alludes—he has written no books, or monographs, or magazine articles. Yet the former colonel is a quite spectacular performer under pressure—to which, unlike the unfortunate scholar-demagogue Papandreu, he does not tend to yield.

The Foreign Minister Mr. Panayotis Pipinelis studied law and political science at Zurich and Freiburg, was himself Prime Minister during a short period in 1963, and has been writing books since 1920. Four months before the coup Mr. Pipinelis warned his fellow democrats in the general assembly that democracy as it was being practiced in Greece was leading to chaos.

The Minister of Education Mr. Theophylactos Papaconstantinou translated into Greek many of the works of Karl Marx, Sigmund Freud, André Gide and Sidney Hook, and his study of Communism dates back seven books ago, to his "Falsifications of Marxism in Greece," published in 1931.

The Junta is not surrounded by illiterates, but by men, some of them deeply learned like Pipinelis and Papaconstantinou, all of them confirmed in the belief that if the Junta had not acted, the scheduled elections of May, 1967, would have propelled Greece into another hideous civil war, the third in twenty-five years, that the aging Papandreu, opportunist and demagogue, would yield control of the Center Union Party to his son the scholar, who once styled himself as a cross between Castro and Nasser, which even the imagination that contrived Cyclops, Medusa, and Cerberus, could not imagine as chief of the Grecian state.

Omitted Hard-Hitting Part

Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., recently issued a stentorian blast against this column and one of its authors, claiming that he did publish a report on TV violence as chairman of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Committee. This is true. The point is, however, that he omitted the hard-hitting material written by his staff which was critical of the networks on TV violence.

Furthermore, Dodd instructed James Boyd, his administrative assistant, to submit the report in advance to NBC's Washington representative, Peter Kenney.

Thus NBC had the privilege of clearing the report even before it was submitted to the Senators serving on Dodd's subcommittee. Kenney called Boyd to say that in the opinion of NBC it was a fair report. This meant, of course, that it could not have included the derogatory information that had been dug up against NBC.

For example, the final report omitted all references to NBC's contempt in failing to answer a subpoena and a staff request that this contempt be submitted to the Justice Department for criminal prosecution. Various closed-door testimony referring to NBC's policy of televised violence was also omitted. All mention of perjury by three NBC officials alleged in a number of staff memos was omitted.

Finally, the stiff legislative recommendations quoted in our previous column, were omitted from the report. Thereafter, Dodd became a familiar figure on NBC shows such as "Meet the Press."

Also, James Boyd has told us that Peter Kenney invited him to lunch in 1964 and told him that NBC wanted to contribute between $2,000 and $3,000 to Dodd. Kenney told him that the contribution could be hidden and would appear to have come from sources not linked to NBC.

Boyd brought this message to Dodd who replied that the risk was too great for such a small amount. Boyd brought this response back to Kenney who, several weeks later, met Boyd again for lunch at the Red Coach Inn in Hartford. He repeated NBC's offer and Boyd repeated Dodd's previous answer.

Finally, in December following the election Kenney and Boyd ended up again at lunch at the Rotunda. He told Boyd that the top brass at NBC had informed him that the message about Dodd's refusal was in error and that they had been in touch directly with Ed Sullivan, Dodd's finance man in Hartford, who had said that Dodd was extremely interested in any contribution that NBC had to give. Kenney told Boyd that NBC had made a sizeable contribution.

Significantly, when Dodd faced censure charges by the Senate, it was NBC's law firm which came to his defense. The Cahill firm, one of the largest in New York, offered to defend Dodd free of charge.

One of Cahill's partners, John Sonnett, headed an eight-man legal task force that did its best to bail Dodd out. Cahill was a director both of NBC and its parent company, Radio Corporation of America. Not until we exposed how the Cahill firm had come to Dodd's rescue after he had suppressed evidence against NBC did the firm submit a bill to Dodd for legal services.

The Plot Against People

WASHINGTON — Inanimate objects are classified scientifically into three major categories—those that don't work, those that break down, and those that get lost.

The goal of all inanimate objects is to resist man and ultimately to defeat him, and the three major classifications are based on the method each object uses to achieve its purpose. As a general rule, any object capable of breaking down at the moment when it is most needed will do so. The automobile is typical of the whole category.

With the cunning typical of its breed, the automobile never breaks down while entering a filling station with a large staff of idle mechanics. It waits until it reaches a downtown intersection in the middle of the rush hour, or until it is fully loaded with family and luggage somewhere on the Ohio Turnpike.

Thus, it creates maximum misery, inconvenience, frustration, and irritability among its human cargo, thereby reducing its owner's life span. How much reduction in human life span occurs as a result of the average car breakdown has never been scientifically measured, but when we consider the vast number of inanimate objects that break down at life's critical moments, the accumulated life span of inanimate objects is span reduction in the average family is obviously considerable. Washing machines, garbage disposals, lawnmowers, light bulbs, automatic laundry dryers, water pipes, furnaces, electrical fuses, television tubes, hose nozzles, tape recorders, slide projectors—all are in league with the automobile to take their turn at breaking down wherever life threatens to flow smoothly for their human enemies.

Many inanimate objects of course, find it extremely difficult to break down. Pliers, for example, and gloves and keys are almost totally incapable of breaking down. Therefore, they have had to evolve a different technique for resisting man.

They get lost. Science has still not solved the mystery of how they do it, and no man has ever caught one of them in the act of getting lost. The most plausible theory is that they have developed a secret method of locomotion which they are able to conceal the instant a human eye falls upon them. It is not uncommon for a pair of pliers to climb all the way from the cellar to the attic in its single-minded determination to raise its owner's blood pressure. Keys have been known to burrow three feet under mattresses. Women's purses, despite their great weight, frequently travel through six or seven rooms to find hiding space under a couch.

Scientists have been struck by the fact that things that break down virtually never get lost, while things that get lost hardly ever break down. A furnace, for example, will invariably break down at the depth of the first winter cold wave, but it will never get lost. A woman's purse, which after all does have some inherent capacity for breaking down, hardly ever does; it almost invariably chooses to get lost.

Costs Of a Wedding

"The girl may be storming the gates of Columbia or ringing doorbells for McCarthy or going into a disco all night, but when it comes to her wedding, she wants a formal gown, attendants, and as elaborate a reception as her family can afford."

This is the admittedly biased opinion of a spokesman for Modern Bride magazine, but it's also based on solid fact. For instance, in 1968 alone:

++ The wedding set will buy an estimated $450 million of engagement rings and $100 million of wedding rings, says the Jewelry Industry Council in New York;

++ The single average bride will generate an estimated $3,900 in retail sales, ranging from wedding and shower gifts to wedding clothes, and wedding reception food and drink;

++ The total "bridal market" will reach nearly $8 billion and even this staggering sum will not include the giant post-wedding market for honeymoon travel, apartments, furniture, homes, cars, appliances and all the rest that goes into setting up a new home.

"Marriage" is now again becoming a rapidly ever-greater force in the U.S. economy.

In the first three months of this year, the number of marriages jumped 10 per cent and a record total of 1,980,000 marriages are expected for all of 1968. The surge traces directly to the fact that millions of "war babies," born in the late 1940s, are now reaching marrying age. By 1975, says the U.S. Census Bureau, the number of marriages will reach 2,300,000 a year. And marrying is getting to be a year-round bonanza: while June is still the most popular marrying month, August and December also are increasingly favored.

How much does it cost to get married today?

Obviously, the costs can vary wildly. But the minimum for a church wedding, with only a few guests, is around $300. $400-to cover the costs of a wedding dress, invitations, flowers, reception refreshments and other items.

Typically, the groom pays for engagement and wedding rings, the gratuity for the minister, the bride's bouquet, blood tests, the marriage license, rental of formal attire for himself and male attendants and, of course, for the honeymoon.

The bride's family pays for the rest, and the amounts depend strictly on the size of the family bank balance plus the extent of their daughter's wishes.

In case there's a wedding in the offing in your family, here are rough estimates drawn up for me by Modern Bride to show how a $1,000-$1,500 wedding might divide up:

Wedding gown and accessories, $75-$200.

Invitations, postage, $70-$100.

Church decorations and fees, $75-$200.

Flowers, $100.

Transport to and from church, $50-$70.

Photographs, $40-$80.

Bridesmaid's gifts, $40.

Bride's gift to groom, $30.

Bridesmaid's luncheon, $80.

Reception (food, drink, catering, etc.) $120.

Gratuities, hotel rooms for attendants, $120.

Contingency fund, $20-$50.

You can use these categories as a guide to what to include in figuring the cost of a wedding in whatever amount your family can afford. At the very least, they will help you be realistic about the expenses involved. And incidentally, to be realistic, at a minimum, quadruple whatever total you originally estimated for the contingency fund. For this is the category which will cover "errors and omissions."

MASON DENISON

A High Water Mark

HARRISBURG — When the Susquehanna River Basin Compact was drowned in defeat on the floor of the House of Representatives the other day, it was something of a high water mark in legislative floundering.

Just how weird the defeat of the compact was is illustrated by the fact that the line-up of votes last week showed that the strongest opponents of the bill were those who voted against it, while those who voted against the bill wanted either a weak compact or none at all.

Among those who voted against the bill were Representative Orville Snare, R - Huntington, chairman of the House Conservation Committee; Representative John Laudadio, D - Jeannette, former president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, and Representative Robert C. Wise, D - Williamsport, chief proponent of the strong version of the compact.

The whole story of the Susquehanna pact, which would bind Pennsylvania with three other signatories (New York, Maryland and the federal government) into a 100-year "treaty" covering all phases of the 27,000-square-mile river basin's water resources, gets stranger and stranger.

The measure was the chief part of the conservation package offered by Governor Shafer last year. It has been approved by the two other signatures, New York and Maryland, and it passed the Senate by a 32-10 vote on July 31, 1967.

However several amendments were made by the House Appropriations Committee (although no one yet has explained why the Appropriations Committee made amendments to the bill that had nothing to do with money). Proponents of the strong pact wanted the amendments ripped out. A compact must be approved in the same form by all signatories. The conservation people feel the Pennsylvania amendments would never be approved by New York and Maryland and that the compact would die before it ever came into existence.

Mr. Wise led a floor fight to have the bill amended back to its original form. Democratic members of the House were overwhelmingly in favor of restoring the bill to the form requested by Republican Governor Shafer. They felt that if they could pick up 30 GOP votes, they would be able to succeed.

Yet despite the frantic efforts of Mr. Snare, only 12 Republicans backed the bill. It seems incredible that His Excellency was really behind the strong version of the bill when the roll call vote is taken into consideration.

Administration Republicans who voted against the strong version included Speaker of the House Kenneth B. Lee, Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, Majority Whip Robert J. Butera, Republican Caucus Chairman Mae W. Kernaghan, and Republican Caucus Secretary Alvin C. Bush. The entire Democratic leadership voted for the strong bill. In fact, Representative

Herbert Fineman, the Democratic Floor Leader, worked to line up votes for the Governor's version of the bill.

Mr. Bush actively led the fight for the amended version of the bill despite the fact the Governor is on record as stating he wanted the bill restored to its original version.

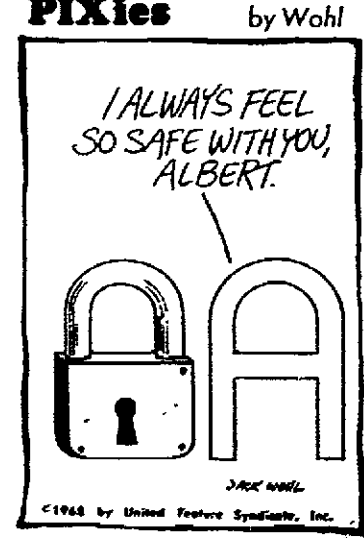

Administration officials were button-holing members of the Republican caucus in the back of the House chamber. Also actively lobbying for the amended version of the bill was the State Chamber of Commerce, which also backed the bill in its original form.

Small wonder a credibility gap is growing up around the bill. Once the amendments were down to defeat, the conservation forces then voted against the compact itself. The bill fell eight votes short of passage. Those who voted against the bill included Messrs. Snare, Laudadio, Wise and other such prominent proponents of conservation as Representatives Reid Bennett, D - Sharpville; and Franklin Kury, D - Sunbury.

However, Mr. Wise explained on the floor that this was not an attempt to kill the bill. Under the rules of the House, he plans to revive the bill and attempt to get it passed later in the session. But first he plans to try once again to amend the bill to its original form.

"If the Governor is sincere in his desire to get the bill in its original form, he will throw his weight behind it, quoth lawmaker Wise.

Wanderings

TRUDY STANTON—GUEST COLUMNIST

HEARD OF ANY LADY INVENTORS LATELY? The fabled American inventors are not a thing of the past nor have they always been of the masculine gender. Some of the most useful household aides have been discovered by females, this is especially so in the field of sewing. From a list of many helpful devices I have chosen a few unique ones. Having tried to sew a few things myself, I know that the way the garment is pressed is very important. June Taylor of Hartland, Wisconsin, realized that if she could find a way to press all seams perfectly flat on the inside, then they would easily fall into correct shape on the outside. Her invention was a contour pressing board made up of all the types of curves found in a garment. There's a hint for those of us who want our amateurish work to 'go pro'.

A few others include the plastic ruler that you can not only see through, but also mark your fabric through because of special slots. Some mother is collecting royalty checks on that invention. Maybe it's time we ladies put on our thinking caps.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY may be looking for you. Stenographers and typists interested in working for the Navy in Washington can be interviewed in Erie, June 19, 20, 21. Miss Leona Labee, Employment Representative will be at the Navy Recruiting Station, U.S. Courthouse, State and 6th sts, Erie, Wednesday through Friday from 9 to 5. Evening and Saturday appointments can be arranged by phoning 453-6071, as well as interviews in other cities. Positions are under civil service and salaries range from $342 a month for typists without experience to $465 for qualified secretaries. Housing is arranged and transportation is paid.

MINIATURES: Open Church wedding will be observed for Kathy Teconchuk and Lyle James Watkins Saturday, June 22 at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church at 11 o'clock. Russell Wednesday Circle will meet at the Russell Methodist Church Wednesday, June 19, at 1 p.m. Hostesses will be Mrs. Harry Pearson and Mrs. Charles Pearson. Men's society cook-out is today at 6:30 p.m. All the men of St. Clara's and St. Anthony's Parish are urged to attend if at all possible. Some announcements for the parish future will be made by the Pastor at this meeting.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do you believe a place can be jinxed? I used to laugh at the idea but too many things have happened that make me suspect there might be something to it.

A certain corner in our city has been the scene of four accidents within 24 months involving members of my family. My father had a head-on collision with a truck and was critically injured. My wife was hit by a drunk driver at that same spot six months later. The following month my brother ran over a dog at the identical place. Yesterday, a kid on roller skates appeared out of nowhere and I hit him. Thank God the boy got off with only a broken arm.

Can all of these accidents be coincidental? If there is a logical explanation I'd like to hear it.—CURSE OF THE CORNER.

DEAR CORNER: You and your relatives ought to stay away from that place—not because it's jinxed, but because you THINK it is.

I can understand how you'd become unglued just approaching the scene of so many family accidents. Avoid that corner—even if it means going a mile out of your way.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is just a little thing but it could save a lot of trouble and money.

On my last birthday I received three beautiful, expensive books. In each book, the giver wrote a warm sentiment and signed his name.

Two books were duplicates of one I already had in my library. I don't mean to sound ungracious, but here I sit with three identical $27 books. In one book is written, "I hope you will always hold this gift dear to your heart" etc., etc. The other book is inscribed: "Much love to a dear friend whose affection I cherish and whose dedication to the fine principles of humanity I hope to emulate."

If these well-meaning folks had not written in the books I could have returned them. How does this strike you?—PRAC-TICAL

DEAR PRAC: It strikes me as incredible that a person who could rate such warm inscriptions could be so insensitive.

You've got duplicates—so what? The sentiments expressed by your friends should make the books priceless.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This morning the clunk I am married to told me he wrote to you. Please, Ann, don't print his letter. To begin with he'd rather lie than tell the truth and he's awfully good at making himself look good and me look lousy, even if it means making up a story out of thin air.

I have been through so much hell with this ape and so many people know about it that any kind of publicity in the paper would be recognized at once. The jerk even signed his right name. He wrote the letter in green ink on our son's white notebook paper. I'm begging you on my knees, Ann Landers, please don't print his letter.—SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

DEAR SLEEPLESS: Get off your knees, Lady. I have your husband's letter in my hands and it will not appear in print. You have my word for it.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I gave my Mom a gift on her birthday that she liked so well she said it was the nicest gift she had ever received.

It was a "coupon book" of things I could do for her.

Whenever she wants me to do one of them, she just tears out that page and gives it to me.

Some of the things I wrote were:

I'll help with supper; I'll empty the trash; I'll sweep the front porch and steps; I'll read a book instead of watching TV; I'll spray wax the furniture; I'll clean my room; I'll do anything you tell me to.

There were 10 things in all. I got the idea from my school teacher and have liked doing all of these things because it makes my Mom happy.

Of course, I also do other things when she asks me.

And since she liked this idea so much, I've decided to make another coupon book for next Mother's Day as well as on every birthday.

Randy Age 7

Randy, I think this is the sweetest idea I ever heard of. Yours is a lucky Mom and I'm sure she appreciates your gift much more because you thought of it yourself.

Wouldn't all of you Moms love to get a birthday present just like this? I sure would! Doesn't cost a penny out of either your pocket or your child's piggy bank. And what a joy to have this help offered without coaxing.

A big hug and squeeze to you, Randy, from the rest of us mothers.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: Please help me so I won't break a leg.

There are two steps in our stairs that make a loud squeak every time we go up or downstairs. I've even been taking two steps at a time to avoid the squeaky ones. I'm careful, but it probably will be my luck to fall someday.

Is there an easy way to stop those squeaks without going to the trouble and expense of replacing the boards?

Mrs. B.

Mrs. B., I know there must be ways to stop those squeaks. Maybe some of our friends will tell us how they managed to do it.

Some liver sausage never goes to the smokehouse.

Mother Goose Smoked Liver Sausage always does.

The best-tasting liver sausage has only a delicate touch of hickory smoke flavor. And the hard way is still the only way to get this mild and good, old-fashioned taste.

Natural casings absorb the smoke, then release its flavor ever so gently to the meat inside. Have you discovered FIRST PRIZE Mother Goose Smoked Liver Sausage? U. S. Gov't inspected, of course. If it costs you a little more, the delicious taste will make up for it.

Linda Elliott Wed June 15
To Joel Lawrence Roop

MRS. JOEL ROOP

Miss Linda Kay Elliott became the bride of Mr. Joel Lawrence Roop on June 15 at the First Methodist Church in the presence of 275 guests. The Rev. James G. Cousins performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Elliott of 805 Pleasant Drive in Warren. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Roop, State Street, North Warren.

Mr. William Brocklebank, organist, played the following selections: Intermezzo from Cavallaria Rusticana, by Mascagni; Fugue in G Minor, by Bach; Processional: Trumpet Voluntary, by Purcell; Psalm XVIII by Marcello. The soloist was Mrs. Sheldon Conrad, who sang the following: Wedding Hymn, by Mendelssohn; Thou Art My Joy, by Bach; and The Lord's Prayer, by Malotte.

Two vases of large white Kilian daisies accented with draped ivy decorated the church. On each side of the altar was a seven-tier candelabra.

The bride, escorted on the arm of her father, appeared in a white Irish linen gown, fashioned with a detachable bodice and a scoop neckline. The short sleeves were edged with Venetian lace, as was the detachable panel-like train. Matching lace banded her Chapel length mantilla. She carried a round cascade bouquet of white bridal roses and daisies accented with ivy streamers. The bride also carried the lace handkerchief carried by her grandmother at her wedding.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel Voovy of Warren. The bridesmaids were Miss Becky Crump, cousin of the bride; and Miss Kristy Roop, Miss Janna Roop and Miss Becky Roop, sisters of the groom. The bride attendants wore Spring Romance Blue floor length A-line gowns with empire waists, scoop necklines, and elbow length sleeves. White Venetian lace and avocado green velvet ribbon trimmed the bodice and flowing back panel of each gown. Each attendant's headpiece was a bouffant veil secured on matching double Dior bow. They all carried arm bouquets of yellow, white and blue daisies accented with floor length velvet streamers.

Mr. Gifford J. Lawrence of Bemus Point, N.Y., cousin of the groom, was best man. Serving as ushers were Robert Arnold of Warren; Michael C. Fitch of Buffalo, N.Y.; Christopher B. Keyes, Bethesda, Md.; George Ridgely Loux, Somers Point, N.J.; and Kitchner Clark Wilson of Miami, Florida.

The mother of the bride wore a mint green silk Shantung coat ensemble with matching accessories. She was given a yellow rose corsage. The groom's mother chose a sheath gown of maize silk with matching accessories. She also had a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Mable Lawrence and Mrs. John Roop, grandmothers of the groom, and Mrs. Harriet Elliott, grandmother of the bride, were each presented with a white carnation corsage. Mr. Maurice Crump, the bride's maternal grandfather, was present.

A reception was held at Dunham Parlor for two hundred and seventy-five guests. Aides were Mrs. William Brook, Crown Point, Ind.; Mrs. C. Rodney Bean of King of Prussia; Mrs. Gifford Lawrence of Bemus Point, N.Y.; Miss Barbara Alexander of Warren; Mrs. Maurice Crump of Warren; and Miss Patricia Ness, York, Pa.

For a New York City honeymoon, the bride chose a flame-colored linen A-line dress with black patent accessories. After September 10, they will reside at 121 Linn st., in Itaca, N.Y.

The bride, a Warren Area High School graduate, received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology from Grove City College. She has been employed in the Social Service Department of Warren State Hospital. The groom, also a Warren Area High graduate, is studying for his Master's Degree in Electrical Engineering at Cornell University.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by: Mrs. Frank Alexander, Mrs. Sam Gigliotti; Mrs. Marjorie Arnold; Mrs. Maurice Crump; Mrs. David Frantz; Mrs. Margaret Lewis; Mrs. Charles Tranter; Mrs. Thomas Schorman; and Mrs. Doris Betts; the Social Service and the Adolescent Unit Staffs of Warren State Hospital.

The rehearsal dinner was given at the Three Flags Inn by the groom's parents. The bridesmaids' luncheon was held at the Penn Laurel.

We care

Good potato, but we won't use it

This is a NO. 1 grade potato.

But we won't use it for Jane Parker Potato Chips because it measures more than 4 inches in diameter.

We have minimum and maximum sizes to insure the best chips... the best eating.

But size isn't the only thing we're fussy about.

We'll use only certain varieties of potatoes.

There are 20 or more varieties we wouldn't think of using... they just don't make good chips.

We're careful about potato sugar content.

It must be low to produce chips of uniform color.

We're fussy too about crispness, thickness and lots of other things.

This may seem like an awful lot of fussing, but that's the way we are about all Jane Parker products... about all the products we make.

When you think about it, shouldn't fussy A&P be your store?

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

Altho North had six card trump support for South's club bid, remaining distribution was not especially attractive, and his attempt to buy the hand at any cost resulted in a sound trouncing on the deal.

South opened the bidding with one club and West elected to pass, a choice somewhat open to question despite the vulnerability. Best results are usually obtained by entering the bidding immediately with distributional holdings—rather than attempting to guess at a higher level later.

North raised his partner to two clubs, and East made a take-out double. While he could have overcalled with two hearts, he did not want to rule out the possibility of playing a spade contract, if his partner held a fit for that suit. If West responded to the double by bidding two diamonds, then East could always retreat to two hearts.

South bid three clubs over the double in an attempt to inhibit his opponents' efforts to get together; however, West was not to be denied. Recognizing that his distribution would provide an excellent fit for East, he jumped directly to four spades.

North persisted to five clubs, a highly doubtful call. His distribution is too balanced despite the fact that he holds six trumps, and the sacrifice is apt to exceed the value of the opponent's game.

East and South passed and West now showed his second suit by bidding five diamonds. East gave a preference to five spades and, when the auction reverted to North, he refused to give up gracefully. His decision to bid six clubs was not far removed from madness and could serve only to offer the opponents a fielder's choice on the deal. East was not inclined to carry the contest any further, and he doubled to extract a full measure of compensation.

West led the jack of hearts and the defense took the first two tricks in that suit. East cashed the ace and queen of spades next and then shifted to a diamond. South finessed the jack losing to West's king.

Altho declarer took the rest of the tricks, the total damages on the deal amounted to 1,100 points. This was somewhat less than would have occurred if East and West had carried on to six spades which cannot be debated; however, it was considerably more than the opposition would have scored had they been permitted to buy the contract at a lower level.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1968:

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Don't worry if your program does not go exactly as you'd like. Seek the reason, then aim to handle it more effectively—and enthusiastically. You CAN achieve—and with distinction.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—More gains available than may seem possible at first. But you will have to go after them in a sound, pre-determined way, and know exactly what you are about. Stress your friendliness and warm personality.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Translate your best ideas into laudable efforts. Your energies should be stimulated now and advances are indicated. In trying moments, call on your fine sense of humor.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—This is a day which will require serenity and good judgment. Do not let unexpected situations ruffle you and do not let others sway you from the course you KNOW is best for you. Control emotions.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—A day for POSITIVE action! With your innate intuition and purposeful vigor, you should go far now. Regard competition as a challenge—to be met and bested!

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Search out those "small" advantages in forgotten or overlooked corners; they total up nicely. You can give a fine performance now.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Stress accuracy and conciseness. You may face some complex situations, but you can handle them. Establish a firmer footing in important areas.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Increased benefits indicated, but you may have to strive harder for the full returns possible. Look into the heart of things. Search for real values.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Jupiter, highly propitious, encourages a multitude of activities and interests. Especially favored: Business negotiations, financial transactions and legal matters.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—If you try too forcefully, you may overshoot your mark, bring on other problems. But sincere effort WILL be required for real success. Find that "just-right" road and tempo.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Be careful of details, avoid doubts and a trend toward misunderstandings. You can prevent many errors if you are on your toes, thinking ahead every step of the way.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Don't allow your enthusiasm to get the better of you. Look into all suggestions carefully. Do not accept merely because they "sound good."

YOU BORN TODAY are governed by Mercury, a planet which endows you with great versatility, imagination, originality and creativity. You make excellent artists, diplomats, journalists, explorers, experts in promotional work and research. Vibrant of personality, you are also knowing and sensitive to the feelings of others, so you make friends easily, and in every walk of life. Highly adaptable, you feel at home anywhere in the world, thus you could excel in any career which involves traveling. Birthdate of: M. Daladier, French statesman.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

HEMOPHILIA RESEARCH

Hemophiliacs lack certain vital substances needed to make the blood clot. Classical hemophilia A is caused by lack of a protein called antihemophilic globulin (AHG) or factor VIII. Other types involve lack of factor IX (PTC) and still others are deficient in factor XI (PTA).

These elements can be extracted from blood, frozen, and used in extreme emergencies. According to Medical World News, Children's Hospital of Philadelphia is conducting a unique experiment with six young hemophiliacs. The parents are supplied with frozen factor VIII which is stored at home in the refrigerator. The mother or father is taught to inject the material into the child, whenever there is the slightest chance that bleeding is imminent. Costs are moderate because the hospital has a large blood donor program involving leukemia research. The AHG concentrate is a byproduct of the latter program.

The 10,000 hemophiliacs in this country may also be interested in research being conducted in Boston. Spleen transplant may lead to cure if preliminary animal studies prove satisfactory. Canine hemophilia is an hereditary disorder among beagles and is identical to the type A in humans. Time will tell whether the hemophilic animals are cured.

Bleeding manifests itself in many ways. Formerly, dental extractions and circumcisions were common starters. Some bleed to death following a deep or jagged cut. Others develop black and blue marks due to bleeding beneath the skin. Hemorrhage into the knee or hip creates symptoms resembling arthritis. Loss of blood from the stomach or kidneys leads to other manifestations.

TOMORROW: Unexplained Fever.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

LOWER LIMB DROPSY

M.F. writes: My feet and legs swell during the day. Will drinking less water prevent this puffiness?

REPLY

Restricting the intake of water will help but there are many other reasons for puffiness. Causes for this defect vary from glandular disorders to dropsy. You should bring this swelling to the attention of your physician. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on edema of the legs and feet.

ADDISON'S DISEASE

B. D. writes: How is Addison's disease treated?

REPLY

In this condition, the adrenal glands are malfunctioning. As a result, the individual becomes weak and loses weight. His blood pressure drops and deep pigmentation of the skin occurs. Treatment involves adrenal hormones such as hydrocortisone, cortisone, or fluorohydrocortisone. This is a serious disease and should never be treated by amateurs.

UNDERARM ELECTROLYSIS

A reader writes: Is electrolysis ever applied to the underarms?

REPLY

It is not practical because there are thousands of hairs and only a small number are removed at one sitting. This makes it a tedious, costly, painful, and lengthy procedure. Shaving or the use of a depilatory is easier.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT — Toys should be sturdy and free of small, detachable parts.

THE HAPPY HOMBRE

(c) 1968 New York Times News Service
NEW YORK, June 17 — Even before the United States Open began, Gary Player seemed to sense that Lee Trevino had unusual qualities that set him apart from the slew of relatives unknowns among the touring professionals. When their paths crossed in the practice area one day last week at Oak Hills in Rochester, Gary's inquisitive mind searched for some sort of explanation as to what methods the talkative Texas used to polish his game.

"What do you work on, Lee?" asked the South African.
"Moving the ball forward," said Lee, turning on the big grin that has charmed everyone.

No one moved the ball forward more convincingly than Trevino during the recently concluded Open. He became the first man in history to turn in four sub-par rounds. He equalled Jack Nicklaus's record low score of 275 and gave this ancient game the most refreshing personality since Arnold Palmer first exploded on the scene.

It was pure fantasy, something ripped from the pages of Horatio Alger. No one reads Alger any more. In this cynical age he rates as a square, the author of "From Rags to Riches" and other epics extolling the American virtues. His plots never vary, the poor boy who reaches the top through hard work, sheer determination and other characteristics that have become unfashionable.

Alger would have found Trevino an ideal hero. Not long ago this underprivileged youth of Mexican parentage was shining shoes at Horizon Hills near El Paso for $30 a week. In a little more than a year he has earned more than $120,000, and his winning of the Open championship is a cinch to make him a million.

Unknowns have won the Open before. Sam Parks came from nowhere to triumph in 1935 and faded back to the obscurity from which he came. Jack Fleck snatched a title away from Ben Hogan in 1955 and disappeared from view. But everyone at Rochester came away with the unshakable conviction that Trevino is here to stay.

He is not a stylist like Slammiir Sammy Snead. His stance is too wide and no purist would advocate copying his form. But he gets the job done, invariably closing stronger than when he started. The significant thing about his stunning victory in the Open was that he did not wither the slightest under pressures that have destroyed lesser men in the past. After he had shot two successive rounds of 69 and 68, he was asked how he would bear up under those excruciating pressures if he came into the home stretch with a chance to win.

"I sure hope I have the opportunity to find out," he said wistfully. Yet there was a challenging lilt to his voice when he said it.

Bert Yancey, the leader for the first three rounds, felt that pressure on the crucial final four of the course. His game disintegrated and only Jack Nicklaus, who had been through it often in other years, kept tightening the screws.

Trevino never flinched. On the 15th he fired an approach shot from far away and actually hit the pin on the fly. On the final hole he was twice in the rough and still salvaged par. This is a competitor.

His happy-go-lucky attitude has endeared him to the galleries and the press has found this compulsive talker from Texas totally irresistible. He already is known as both "The Happy Hombre" and "The People's Choice." He just seems with color and "Arnie's Army" may soon be riddled by deserters, enrolled under the new banner of "Lee's Pleas" a less pleasing group title. They already have begun to scream "Ole!" at each successful shot.

Lee talks too much sometimes, a total extravert who spills out the words.

"Know how I happened to play in the Dallas tournament?" he said. "I really didn't intend to. But I got into an argument with my wife and I got mad. So I threw some stuff into my car and discovered I was driving toward Dallas. 'Might as well play in the tournament,' I said to myself. Wona thousand bucks, too." His wife's name is Claudia. Under the adhesive patch on his right arm is a tattoo, a memento of his enlistment in the Marines. It says, "Ann." He intends to have it removed this fall, not because it's the wrong name but because of a new sense of responsibility.

"Anyone in the public eye," he says, "Should give the right impression to youngsters. I want to be clean cut, a good example."

You'll be reading a lot about Lee Trevino in the years to come. He's here to stay.

DON DODGES DODGERS

Don Bosch, the New York Mets outfielder, does a nosedive for first base when the "sure" base hit is handled cleanly by Dodger outfielder Willie Davis. Don made it, averting a double play, as Wes Parker, the Dodger first baseman, is shown after being pulled off the bag during the play.

American League

Indians in Losing Groove

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Pinch hitter Bill Voss' two-run triple in the seventh inning carried the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 victory over Cleveland Monday night, extending the Indians' losing streak to seven games.

Winning pitcher Jack Fisher blanked the Indians on five hits until the ninth, when he needed help from Bob Locker after Willie Smith's pinch double delivered an unearned run.

Voss, a rookie batting only .140, slammed a triple to left center in the seventh to break open a scoreless duel between Fisher and the Indians' Steve Hargan.

The decisive hit followed a walk and Wayne Causey's single off Hargan's leg.

With one out in the ninth, third baseman Sandy Alomar booted Joe Azcue's roller for an error and Azcue scored on Smith's double.

Quilici Stars, Twins Win

(AP) — Frank Quilici, Minnesota's forgotten man since he played second base on the 1965 American League pennant winners, doubled and tripled Monday night to lead the Twins to a 4-1 victory over Washington.

Quilici, playing because Rod Carew is on Marine reserve duty until next Sunday, tripled off loser Barry Moore, 1-4, in the third inning and scored on Jim Kaat's single.

Quilici doubled in the fifth to score Jerry Zimmerman, who had walked and moved to second on Jack Hernandez' sacrifice.

The two hits gave Quilici seven in 152 times at bat since he started playing regularly. He has had two doubles and two triples.

Bob Allison hit his sixth homer in the eighth with a man on for insurance runs.

Kaat, 4-3, blanked the Senators for six innings. Washington then scored on successive singles by Mike Epstein and Paul Casanova, a fielder's choice, a walk and Cap Peterson's sacrifice fly to center. Kaat finished with an eight-hitter.

Pro Tennis Washed Out

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Officials of the rain-plagued U.S. Pro tennis championships postponed the finals indefinitely Monday when rain washed out play for the third time in less than a week.

A spokesman for Longwood Cricket Club said the $32,500 tourney couldn't be put over on another day because Australian finalists Rod Laver and John Newcombe both must be in London Tuesday to play in a tournament there.

He said an attempt would be made to reschedule the final for later in the summer, possibly not until September.

Laver, winner of the tourney in 1964, 1966 and 1967, was top-seeded this year in quest of the $8,000 first prize. He gained the finals by defeating Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-2, 4-6, 6-1 Sunday in a rain-delayed semifinal match.

Newcombe was unseeded, but upset former champion Butch Buchholz.

National League

Pirates Win 6th in Row

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Stargell's tie-breaking home run in the ninth inning gave the streaking Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over Houston Monday night.

Stargell smacked Dave Giusti's first pitch in the fifth into the right field stands for his 11th homer, sending the Pirates to their sixth successive victory and pinning the Astros with their sixth straight loss.

Right-hander Al McBean pitched out of serious seventh inning trouble but needed relief help from Elroy Face in the ninth in bringing his record to 6-5. Giusti has lost eight of 12 decisions.

Matty Alou's three-run double in the first inning gave the Pirates an early lead. Alou doubled down the right field line after Maury Willis' single, a force out and two walks filled the bases.

The Astros countered with one run in the second on singles by Jim Wynn, Doug Rader and Bob Watson, then tied it 3-3 in the fourth on a two-run single by Giusti.

Wynn singled, Rader drew a walk and Hector Torres beat out an infield hit, filling the bases, before Giusti stroked the tying single to right.

Dick Simpson led off the Astros' seventh with a triple, but McBean stranded him on third by retiring Rusty Staub on a roller to first baseman Donn Clendenon, then fanning Wynn and Rader.

Face got the last out in the ninth after singles by Simpson and Staub chased McBean.

Gary Beban Signs No-Cut Pact with Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gary Beban, All-America quarterback from UCLA, signed his second no-cut contract Monday. The first one was for life and the second, for his livelihood, could run years, too.

The Washington Redskins paid a reported $200,000 to sign Beban and plainly expect a long-lasting NFL career for him even though nobody took the Heisman Trophy winner in the first round of the pro football draft last winter.

Beban, a bridegroom of three days, compared the Redskins agreement with his marriage Friday and joked, "I've been involved in two no-cut contracts within a week."

The Redskins acquired rights to Beban from the Los Angeles Rams on his wedding day last week. The Redskins gave the Rams their No. 1 draft choice next year.

Beban will be playing behind veteran Sonny Jurgensen, who broke NFL passing records last fall but will be 34 three weeks before the coming season opens.

Beban has a reputation as a rollout passer in contrast to the pros' dropback style. But he says he is not and reports he threw 80 per cent of his college passes from a set stance. Beban said, "The only difference between the UCLA dropback and the pros is the angle you take leaving the center."

Redskins Coach Otto Graham, a superb pro quarterback in his long career with Cleveland, praised Beban:

"He's intelligent. He's got all the physical attributes. He can throw—and he can run, which many quarterbacks can't do. Above all, the most important thing in my way of thinking, he's a winner."

Beban's attorney, Arthur Morse of Chicago, compared Beban's contract as favorable to the ones he negotiated for Chicago linebacker Dick Butkus and Green Bay fullback Jim Grabowski.

Those contracts, in the days of the AFL-NFL bidding wars, reportedly ranged up to a quarter of a million dollars. Beban's contract is thought to call for about $200,000, spread over several years.

Walking is something Beban does with verve, as his bride, the former Kathy Hanson of UCLA, discovered Sunday on the third day of marriage.

Beban was elected as a California delegate to the Democratic convention pledged to support Robert F. Kennedy only hours before Kennedy was shot.

Pittsburgh Pipers Plans Pending

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The owner of the Pittsburgh Pipers said Monday he will know for sure in the next two weeks whether the American Basketball Association team will remain in Pittsburgh.

"As far as the fan interest is concerned, I feel it will improve," said Rubin. "The city is still my hometown. The decision is personal, but it's economic, too."

He said his decision will depend on factors such as season ticket sales, auditorium dates and radio and television contracts in Pittsburgh and other cities.

Rumors sparked by Rubin's attendance at the WBA meeting in Minneapolis, Minn., last week circled around the sale or transfer of the championship team.

"I have not sold the club," said Rubin. "I do not have a deal. If I do get a deal I will announce it."

Rubin had said earlier he is willing to consider offers from other cities that want his franchise.

The valuable scrapbook contains mementoes of baseball as it was when men like Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner and Babe Ruth gave their all to the game. It all started when Daisy was 12 years old. Her father, George Warner, invited a few men to his farm near Garland for some hunting. Among these visitors was Hall of Famer Honus Wagner, who soon became a close friend of Daisy and introduced her to the game of baseball. Honus's pictures, autographs and letters take up much space in the scrapbook but also included are pictures and rosters of the Yankees and Pirates during the 1927 World Series. Players like Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Paul and Lloyd Waner and numerous others participated in that classic and Daisy was there at Forbes Field on opening day to root for her Bucs against one of the greatest Yankee teams that ever took the field.

Palmer Isn't Through Fellow Pros Insist

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "There's nothing wrong with Arnold Palmer that a little privacy wouldn't cure," said South Africa's Gary Player. "This man is constantly badgered on all sides."

"Everybody needs a chance to be quiet and concentrate," Player, a paid-up member of golf's big three which also includes Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, represents the sentiment of most of the touring golfers who scoff at suggestions that the great Arnie may be through as a factor in the game which he, more than any other person, helped build into a monstrous and mushrooming success.

The 1968 National Open championship, which ended last week-end over the Oak Hill course, was a frustrating and humiliating experience for the greenskeeper's son from Latrobe, Pa., who became golf's all-time leading money winner.

Rounds of 73-74-79 placed him last among professionals in the field and on the final day he was assigned the last threesome with a pair of amateurs.

It was proper according to the U.S. Golf Association formula but it was demeaning nevertheless. He finished with 75-301, 26 strokes back of the winner, Lee Trevino.

"I think this is just a temporary slump," Player said. "He will snap out of it. But he must have a chance to relax and think. He has too much responsibility. People are after him all the time."

"Arnie is too much of a competitor to let this throw him," said former PGA champion Dave Marr. "He is young yet (38) and you can bet he'll be back."

"I think Palmer may be suffering more from his hip ailment than he lets on. He's that kind of guy. But I noticed his swing has gone off. He is spinning on his shots and hitting some balls fat. I think it's from favoring that hip."

Marr played the first two rounds with Palmer and Dan Sikes, another top veteran.

"It's Palmer's putting," said Sikes. "His putting troubles have saturated his whole game. When you're not putting—and Arnie isn't—it wrecks your whole game. But I think it's just temporary."

Masters champion Bob Goalb agreed with Player, Marr

Erie Schedules Olympic Meet

An Olympic Developmental Track and Field Meet will be held at Erie East High School Monday, June 24. The AAU meet is being sponsored by the City of Erie Recreation Department.

Medals will be awarded to the first three places in each event. Entry fee is 50 cents per event.

The evening's schedule follows:

From 6:15 p.m. to 6:45 p.m., registration and warm-up time; 6:45 p.m., men's shot put; 7 p.m., men's long jump, men's 100-yard dash; 7:10 p.m., boy's 440-yard dash (10-14); 7:20 p.m.; men's three-lap run; 7:30 p.m., women's 220-yard dash.

At 7:45 p.m., men's 440-yard dash; 8 p.m., women's long jump, men's high jump; 8:05 p.m., boy's 100-yard dash (10-14); 8:20 p.m., men's three-mile run; 8:40 p.m., men's one-mile relay.

and Sikes that it is ridiculous to hold a requiem for the game's greatest player of the last decade.

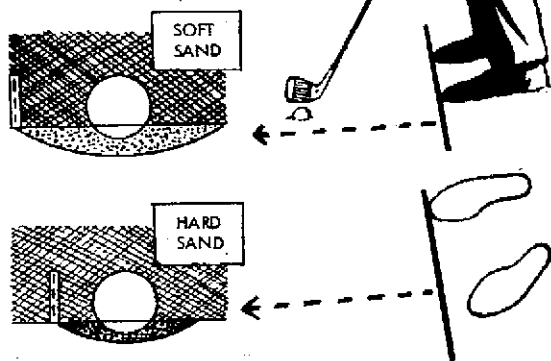

After skyrocketing to a 79 Saturday, Palmer told interviewers that he had become a perfectionist, that he was inclined to burn inside when he missed a shot and lose his concentration.

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer

ALTER STANCE WHEN SAND IS WET

When hitting shots from soft sand, your club will encounter a minimum of resistance from the sand. You can cut fairly deep under the ball—thus avoiding a "thin" shot—and still pop the ball out readily.

However, when the sand is wet and heavy you will need a shallow cut through the sand. If you cut too deeply, you won't get the club through the sand with enough speed to pop the ball out.

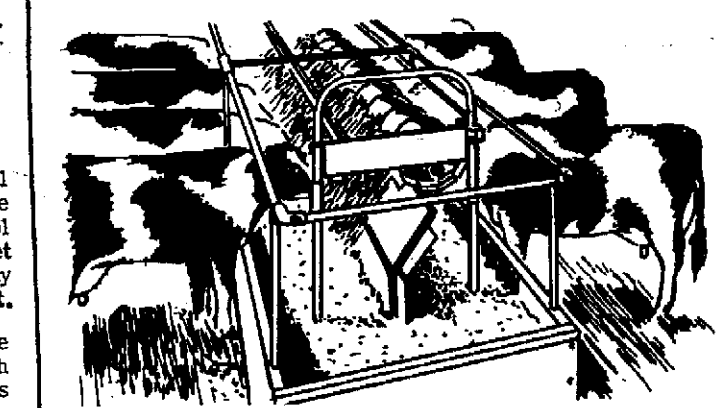

Thus you need a deep cut through soft sand and a shallow cut through deep sand.

You can make this change in the depth of your cut simply by changing your stance slightly (see illustration). The more you pull your left foot back and thus "open" your stance, the shallower will be the cut your club makes in the sand.

So use your normal stance in soft sand, but go to a more-open stance in wet sand.

Steelers Name Nix No. 1 Quarterback

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The scene will be different when quarterback Kent Nix strides into the Pittsburgh Steelers' training camp next month.

Last year he was just another rookie picked up in another trade that a perennial loser makes to try and change its image. This year he's No. 1, at least in Pittsburgh, the man who'll have to produce if the Steelers are to escape the cellar.

"All the pressure's on you when you're No. 1. There's a lot more responsibility knowing you've got to produce," Nix said. "Last year I was No. 2 and I knew Bill (Nelsen) was No. 1. So what? I was going to sit on the bench and watch him play. You don't work as hard then."

Nelsen's gimpy knees gave way, though—as they have almost every year—and Nix took over the starting job. But Nelsen was still the quarterback, so it came as something of a surprise last month when he was traded to Cleveland.

Nelsen wasn't necessarily traded because Nix set the world on fire last year. He didn't and readily admits it. But Coach Bill Austin must have seen something he liked.

"At the end of last year, it never entered my mind that they were going to trade Nelsen or that I'd be in this position now," said Nix.

"But I was real happy that the coaches thought I could do the job this year. It just gives me more confidence going into camp."

In his rookie season, Nix, who cost the Steelers a fourth-round draft choice in a trade with Green Bay, completed 136 of 268 passes, 50.7 percent, for 1,587 yards and eight touchdowns. Nineteen of his tosses were intercepted.

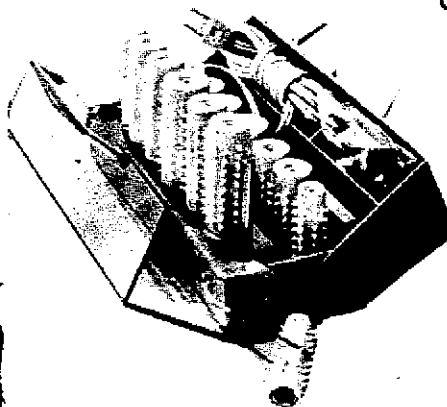

"The thing that really pleased me about last year was that I didn't get caught behind the line of scrimmage as much as they had in the past," Nix said.

Court Restores Judgment Won by Hanover Shoe Co.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court restored Monday a $4.2 million damage judgment the Hanover Shoe company won from the United Shoe Machinery Corp. The judgment, by a federal court in Scranton, Pa., in 1965, was based on a finding United Shoe Machinery, based in Boston, violated federal antitrust law by refusing to sell Hanover machinery used in manufacturing shoes. The $4,239,609 judgment was set aside by the U.S. Circuit Court in Philadelphia in April 1967 and a new trial ordered. The circuit court said damages should be computed from 1946 to 1955—not 1939 to 1955 as the district court had allowed. Additionally, in ordering a new trial, the circuit court said damages should be reduced by tax savings Hanover got by leasing its machinery from United instead of owning it. By a 7-1 vote, the Supreme Court reversed the circuit court. Justice Thurgood Marshall took no part in the decision. Justice Byron R. White said for the court Hanover was entitled to damages for the entire period back to 1939, all the

Rotarians Hear Reasons For Making A Will

"Why You Should Make A Will" was discussed by attorney William M. Hill Jr. at the Warren Rotary Club at its regular Monday noon meeting at the Blue Manor. He was introduced by Rotary past president Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr.

Hill regaled his listeners with some choice quotations from actual wills in Warren County over many years. He discussed the four basic elements that constitute a valid will.

"Why make a will?" It's your one chance during your lifetime to do what you want with what you have. You don't get another chance," Hill observes. Neglect to make a simple will can have even tragic consequences for the surviving family.

"A will is a pretty simple document," Hill explains. "It is the legal declaration of what an individual wants to be performed after death." In Pennsylvania there are four requirements:

1. The person who makes the will must intend that at the time he makes it, it is a will.
2. He must have the capacity to make a will.
3. The will must be in writing — written, printed or typed.
4. It must be signed at the end.

"Those are the only requirements in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for making a valid will," he declares. Of interest was Hill's observation that a will does not need to be notarized, nor does the signature need to be witnessed. However, it is advisable to have it witnessed, as the signature must be shown to be authentic later.

Hill mentions that many people erroneously believe that if they die without a will, their estate goes to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This, he said, was untrue. However, in such case the widow receives, under the law, only one third of the estate, while the remaining two-thirds is distributed to the surviving children and a guardian other than the wife is appointed to administer the children's share.

It was emphasized that it is only common sense for everyone to make a simple will, so that things after their death can be handled as one wants them.

President elect Everett Borg announced that next week's speaker will be Col. Jim Healey, the first radio news analyst.

Dairy Farmers Seek Price Hike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A dairy farmers' organization said Monday it will ask the State Milk Control Commission for a price hike of two cents per quart for milk.

Homer H. Martz, general manager of the Dairymen's Co-operative Sales Association, said his organization will ask for the increase at a hearing that starts Tuesday in Pittsburgh.

He said the farmers will ask for the boost to bring prices in the Pittsburgh milk market "in alignment with all other areas in Pennsylvania."

Martz said, "Erie and Pittsburgh are the only areas in the state that have not had a price increase."

Jury Completed For Murder Trial Of John Galayda

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Attorneys completed Monday their selection of a jury for the murder trial of John Galayda.

One hundred and seventy prospective jurors were questioned before twelve jurors and two alternates were chosen.

Judge John I. Munson of Fayette County Court ordered testimony to begin Tuesday.

Dist. Atty. Joseph E. Kovach said he will ask for the death penalty. He said his first witnesses will be the officers who apprehended Galayda.

Tony Duffield, defense attorney, said Galayda will take the stand.

Galayda, 38, of Monessen is accused of shooting night club operator Anthony Scotchel of Westover, W. Va.

Infants' Deaths Are Investigated

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Officials investigated the deaths of two infants Monday to see if they were caused by meningitis.

The boys — Donald Kaiser of Erie and Robert Rice of near-by Waterford — died within hours Monday morning at St. Vincent Hospital.

Hospital Asst. Administrator Thomas Fellon said both youngsters showed the symptoms of meningitis.

Both had been placed in isolation after their admittance Sunday. Fellon said the hospital was taking "all possible precautions."

He didn't specify what measures were being taken, but said he was awaiting the results of an autopsy before taking further steps.

NEHRU ON SLEEP

Iengar says Nehru then remarked: "Six hours is a necessity, seven hours a luxury, and eight hours a positive vice."
